Kelp crab

Octopus

Shark tooth

Cormorant

Kelp

Sea Crest School

NERITIC ZONE
- giant kelp forests

YOU ARE HERE

Sea urchin

Sea snail

Sea star

Seal

Schooling fish

Concept created using placeholder species.

Sea Crest School | CONCEPT

These species, all native to nearby giant kelp forests, are all interconnected. Each of their roles in the complex food web share the same significance in maintaining ecological balance. Species will be painted life-size, bringing the connection between viewer and organism to a measurable point of reference.

(Continue the design all the way to the edges of the wall)

Mural Interpretation + Sea Crest Message
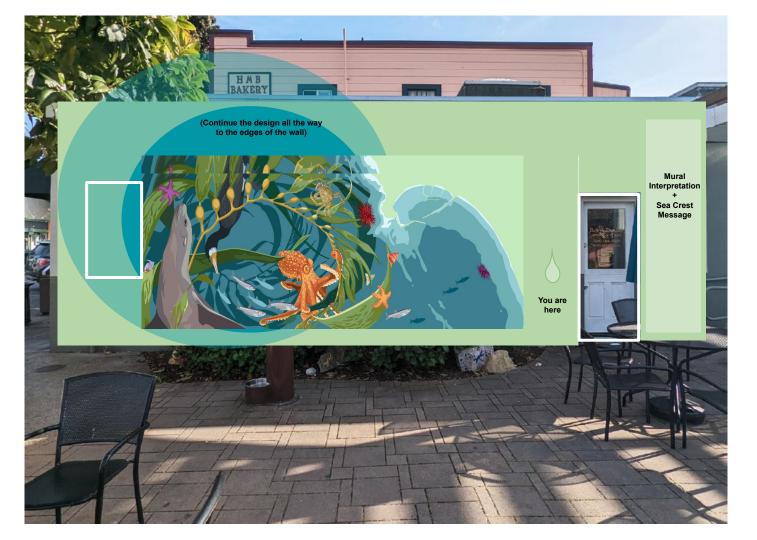

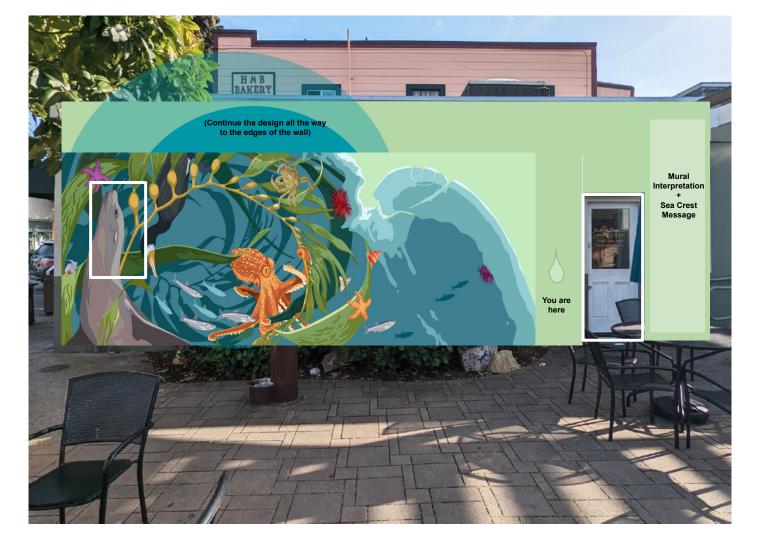

You are here

Feedback/Changes for Inkdwell:
- [SCS] Let's make it as big as the wall. Continue the design all the way to the edges of the wall. Go around or incorporate the door into the design.
- [City] Water Fountain and electrical boxes can be painted to match artistically and incorporated into the design if possible.
- [City] Bush/trees/standing sign will be removed for better visibility

Next Steps for the Dev Committee:
- Connect with Tom Conroy, his firm is part of the beautification/planning commission and can suggest what to do with the ground once the trees have been removed
- Next city's planning commission meeting on May 26th

(Continue the design all the way to the edges of the wall)

Mural Interpretation + Sea Crest Message

You are here

Feedback/Changes for Inkdwell:
- [SCS] Let's make it as big as the wall. Continue the design all the way to the edges of the wall. Go around or incorporate the door into the design.
- [City] Water Fountain and electrical boxes can be painted to match artistically and incorporated into the design if possible.
- [City] Bush/trees/standing sign will be removed for better visibility

Next Steps for the Dev Committee:
- Connect with Tom Conroy, his firm is part of the beautification/planning commission and can suggest what to do with the ground once the trees have been removed
- Next city's planning commission meeting on May 26th

Sea Crest School | EXPANDED

you are
here

Sea Crest School | DESIGN